STUDENT ARMY CAMPS COMMENDED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—The work of the student army camps undertaken last summer at Gettysburg, Pa., and near Monterey, Cal., to be conducted on a larger scale this season, is commended in a statement from nine university and college presidents made public at the war department today.

"The military instruction," says the statement, "was thorough, the discipline was strict, but the work was so well arranged that it caused enjoyment rather than hardship.

The food, sanitation and medical care were good and the lessons received by the students in these matters were scarcely less valuable than the military instruction itself. We commend these camps to the attention of college authorities as a most important adjunct to the educational system of the United States, furnishing the student a healthful and profitable summer course at moderate expense."

The statement is signed by Presidents Hibben, Princeton; Lowell, Harvard; Hadley, Yale; Finley, college of the City of New York; Hutchins, Michigan, and Wheeler, California.

ALL SOUTH AMERICA TO SEND EXHIBIT

Washington, Jan. 29.—Practically every country in South America will participate in the Panama-Pacific international exposition at San Francisco, the commissioners who visited the South American republics in the interest of the exposition will report to Secretary Bryan today.

Felix Martinez and Daniel O'Connell, United States commissioners to South America for the exposition, arrived here today from their trip and were much gratified with their efforts. "No country visited will be absent when the roll is called at San Francisco," said Mr. Martinez. The commission visited Venezuela, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile, Peru and Bolivia. Ecuador and Paraguay were in the commission's itinerary, but because of lack of time, those countries will be visited later.

FEDERAL BUREAU PRAISES CHILDREN

Washington, Jan. 29.—An interesting story of how the children of Crazy Mountain schoolhouse, in Montana, won first prize and the blue ribbon for the best collection of wild flowers, pressed and mounted, at the recent state fair at Helena, is told in a statement issued by the federal bureau of education. The schoolhouse is a ten by twelve shack, the bureau says, and is about as poorly equipped as a schoolhouse could be. Yet despite these handicaps the pupils—there were nine of them—set about to win the prize offered by the fair for the best collection of wild flowers.

The children plucked the flowers from the mountainsides, lowlands and meadows and placed them in books and magazines. In the absence of a flower press they sat on the books to get the necessary pressure. After the flowers had been mounted the entire collection was sent to the state fair, where the judges awarded the Crazy Mountain collection first prize. The Crazy Mountain school is a typical country schoolhouse and there are holes in the roof and floor. The teacher's desk is a plank nailed to two sticks and set against the wall for support. The children have desks discarded as useless by other schools and they sit on seats that are held up by sticks nailed to the floor or on boxes if they are fortunate enough to get them. Few have books; but they entered the contest and won and the bureau of education has commended them.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY BANKRUPT

Rome, Ga., Jan. 29.—Request for the appointment of a receiver for the State Mutual Life Insurance company of Georgia with headquarters here has been filed in the superior court in Atlanta. The petition was filed by J. E. Lockridge and E. E. Tanner, holders of approximately $20,000 worth of company's interest bearing certificates. There are said to be approximately $1,000,000 of assets in the company in all. The company is said to have assets amounting to about $2,000,000.

AMERICAN TOURISTS BUNCOED IN LONDON

Washington, Jan. 29.—Because an increasing number of American tourists are being victimized out of thousands of dollars by a confidence game in London, the criminal investigation department of New Scotland Yard has issued warning exposing the scheme.

The game is worked by two confederates, one of whom explains that his uncle by the terms of an eccentric will gives him a fortune conditional upon his distribution of 5000 pounds among the poor of the American victim's native state. But in order to establish confidence, the American is requested to draw 100 pounds from his bank, which is given to one of the confederates who disappears. Later the other goes to hunt for his companion and the victim never sees them again unless, after lodging a complaint, he is called to identify them at the police station. Then the American must decide whether he will stay to prosecute and thus lose his passage money or stand his loss. Consul General Griffiths, who has brought the attention of the state department to this confidence game, says:

"Incredible as it may seem, the supply of dupes seems to be inexhaustible. The tricksters' season begins about April and continues until the last visitor has left England late in the autumn. If visitors would use ordinary common sense in their intercourse with chance acquaintances the business of the confidence trickster would be ruined."
